

My Very First Weekend Away from School

by Leo the Lion.

I spent the morning reading a book with F and his younger brother, B as well as his teddy, who was called Olaf. F was teaching B about farm animals.

Not long after, I had a game of mini cricket with F and his dad. I took Joss Butler's position of wicket keeper. Unfortunately, I wasn't great at this job and felt the wrath of Pershore's best spin bowler.

I had a fantastic weekend... thank you for having me.

My Second Weekend Away

On Friday, I escaped school and arrived at the home of my new, lovely family.

On Saturday afternoon, we made some delightful cookies before going for a ride on dad's motorbike.

Today was really cool but soon it was time to go to bed.

I had a brilliant weekend... thank you for having me.
